

Natural rubber latex, even if organic, contains proteins that can cause babies and children to become allergic.

Since prolonged exposure of sleeping on a latex mattress may often present increased risks of respiratory illness, rashes, headache and other symptoms, it is simply a smart, precautionary measure to avoid latex mattresses for babies and children.

Thankfully, Naturepedic provides safer and healthier products for babies and children without using latex or other known allergens like soy which can be found in foam.

Robyn O'Brien,
Executive Director, AllergyKids Foundation

P.O. Box 3284 Boulder, Colorado 80307 303.518.7573
www.allergykids.com